NEWS – FIRE ON BOARD STENA IMMACULATE AND SOLONG FOLLOWING COLLISION

Dear Madam, dear Sir,

Please note that we have been advised that the vessel Stena Immaculate (chemical tanker), suffered a fire on board following a collision with the containership Solong. The incident occurred on March 10th, 2025, while vessels were in the North Sea region, off the east coast of England.

At the time of the incident, the Solong was proceeding on a laden voyage from Scotland to the Netherlands, while the Stena Immaculate was sailing from Greece to UK.

Both vessels are reported on fire, rescue helicopters and firefighting measures are deployed. At the time being, the cause of the collision remains unknown.

If you insure or reinsure cargo on board and need assistance managing potential salvage and/or general average claims, feel free to contact us.
